

We're kicking goals and manufacturing Victoria's future

Victorian Manufacturing Hall of Fame

Rob Hulls MP
Minister for Manufacturing
Industry

"Most Victorians know more about their footy team than the industry that's building their future - Manufacturing. However the Victorian Government is proud to recognise our manufacturing heroes through the Victorian Manufacturing Hall of Fame."

Today, Victoria's manufacturing heroes are kicking goals against some of the toughest competition in the world - taking on markets in Asia, Europe and the United States and bringing home $8 billion in the last year alone.

Our manufacturing sector is now one of the most dynamic and technologically advanced industries in the world. It's the largest in Australia and Victoria's biggest employer and exporter, turning over around $70 billion annually and driving workplace R&D and productivity.

The Victorian Government is committed to keeping our manufacturing industry at the top of the ladder through our $27 million Agenda for New Manufacturing to boost innovation, workplace performance and exports.

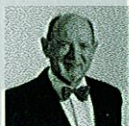

We're just as committed to recognising and celebrating Victorian manufacturing excellence, and showcasing it to the world, through the Victorian Manufacturing Hall of Fame.

The Victorian Government congratulates the following Hall of Fame Award winners:

Honour Roll

The Victorian Aerospace industry is acknowledged as a world leader in innovation and technology development thanks to the work of people like Tony Carolan. Tony has a long and distinguished career in manufacturing with Hawker de Havilland, one of Australia's leading designers and manufacturers of commercial and military aircraft aerostructure components.

Dr Walter WJ Uhlenbruch, AM is recognised for his outstanding career with Hella, a world leader in the highly competitive, global automotive lighting industry. Under his leadership over the last 40 years, the Victorian based Hella Australia has grown from 12 people with $500,000 in sales to 525 people with $92 million in domestic and export sales today. Walter retired as Chief Executive of Hella Australia and Hella Asia Pacific, after 46 years of service but continues his involvement in the industry as Deputy Chairman of Hella Asia Pacific.
